2021-22 Annual Report

Acting President's Report

It can be hard doing things off the side of your desk at the best of times. Throw in a pandemic with a long tail and an explosion of people's substantive workloads and you have a real challenge on your hands.

This has been the reality for IPAA Tasmania in 2022-23. We are a membership organisation operating on a largely voluntary basis and the combined impacts of COVID and the pressures on people's time over an extended period have certainly taken their toll.

It is fair to say that for the most part, IPAA Tas has been in 'stasis' mode over the course of 2021-22. The Council has continued to meet and has facilitated ongoing access to the Australian Journal of Public Administration and the resources of IPAA National for members. However, there has been limited confidence and capacity for delivering face to face events.

In this and the preceding financial year (2020-21), the Council determined to rollover annual personal and corporate memberships in recognition of the ongoing contraction in member offerings. Memberships will once again be rolled over in 2022-23 in order to allow IPAA to reconnect with members and ramp up its activities.

We officially broke the events drought in May this year, when we were able to stage our first face to face event in over two years, the State Budget Briefing Lunch. It was great to see tables full of local, state and federal public professionals conversing and engaging with each other after so long, and to hear from a panel of highly regarded departmental secretaries as they shared their views on the impacts of the pandemic and other domestic and global shocks on the Tasmanian economic outlook.

The Budget Briefing event offered a very positive ray of light for the reignition of member offerings and a much-needed confidence boost to the IPAA Council that 'we can do this!' But there is certainly more to be done! I am confident that we can make 2022-23 a year of 'rebuilding and renewal' for IPAA Tasmania. With COVID lingering in the background rather than the foreground of our minds, there is a sense that normality, for the most part, is returning.

The Council has the opportunity to re-establish regular communication with its members and to develop some new ideas for how we deliver value going forward. Conversations among council members in recent times have centred on the need to consolidate and deliver on our previously popular flagship annual events including the State of the Service Presentation and the Budget Briefing Lunch. We also have the opportunity to provide important networking opportunities for aspiring and emerging leaders through Young Professionals events, which have been highly popular in the past.

In addition to our networking events, there is a desire to establish a refreshed online presence through the IPAA website and to facilitate regular online public sector insights and inspiration for our members. In recognition of our small size, we have been engaging with counterparts in other jurisdictions to explore opportunities for shared virtual program offerings and that work will continue.

I'd like to thank IPAA Tasmania's Council members for their commitment and patience through what has been another challenging year. Our council members have given their time and attended meetings off the side of their desks in order to keep IPAA afloat. I'd also like to thank the TTC team for their administrative support.

Finally, I'd like to extend a very warm and heartfelt thank you to our President of the last 5 years, Jacqui Allen, who bid farewell to the Council earlier in 2022 to take on an exciting opportunity at the City of Hobart. Whilst Jacqui's departure inevitably left a big hole in the IPAA team, we are extremely grateful for the leadership and stability that she has afforded the Council over her tenure.

It has certainly been a tough gig for the last couple of years, but despite all that, IPAA is still here. We're keen dust off the covers in 2022-23 and offer valuable 'reconnecting' opportunities to our members going forward. We hope as a valued IPAA member you can join us on that journey!

Finance Report

Copies of the Financial Statements for the year ended 30 June 2022 are provided with this report.

Pursuant to section 24 of the Associations Incorporation Act 1964 IPAA Tasmania is exempt from the requirement to obtain an independent annual audit as its annual revenue is below $250 000.

IPAA operations and finances continued to be impacted by COVID-19 during 2021-22. Summary points to note from the financial statements are:

- A deficit of $9,119 for the year was achieved, contributing to total equity decreasing to $44,157.
- In respect of Income:
 - The Association's council determined that due to the continued impacts of the Covid pandemic that membership fees for 2021-22 financial year would be waived. Revenue for memberships has decreased from $19,513 received in 2019-20, $91 in 2020-21 down to $0 for 2021-22.
 - There was an increase in revenue of $5,159 for seminars, this relates to the state budget briefing seminar.
- In respect of Expenses:
 - The major expenditure increase related to Seminar costs of $4,183 due to the expenses of hosting the state budget briefing seminar.

Given the disruption to IPAA Tasmania activities this year, the Council approved rolling over all memberships for a second consecutive year to 2021-22.

On behalf of Council I would again specifically like to thank Loraine Kemble-Smith for her voluntary assistance in managing IPAA's finances.

Events

Due to the impacts of COVID-19 and gathering restrictions, IPAA Tasmania was limited in its capacity to hold events during 2021-22.

However, we did welcome back events in the middle of 2022, with one of our flagship networking events, the IPAA State Budget Briefing Lunch, returning for the first time since 2019.

The Briefing featured keynote speaker Tony Ferrall, Secretary of the Department of Treasury and Finance and provided an insider's view of the Tasmanian State Budget and the opportunity to glean what this budget means for Tasmanians in 2022-23.

Tony was joined by Department of Health Secretary, Kath Morgan-Wicks, Department of Education Secretary Tim Bullard, and Department of State Growth Deputy Secretary Gary Swain. The perspectives of the panel members were hugely insightful and the diversity of their portfolio responsibilities ensured that an array of issues and public policy considerations were covered.

This successful event attracted around 85 attendees and served as a welcome reminder of the value and enjoyment of face to face networking events.

Notes to the Financial Statement for the year Ended 30 June 2022

Note 1: Statement of Significant Accounting Policies

(a) Basis of Preparation

The financial statements have been prepared on the basis that the Association is a non-reporting entity because there are no users dependent on general purpose financial statements. The financial statements are therefore special purpose financial statements prepared in order to satisfy the financial reporting requirements of the Associations Incorporation Act (Tas). The Association is an incorporated entity. In accordance with the reporting requirements of the Associations Incorporation Act (Tas), the Association has complied with the following applicable Australian Accounting Standards and Urgent Issues Group Consensus View of AASB 1031 Materiality. No other applicable Accounting Standards, Urgent Issues Group Consensus Views or other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board have been applied. The financial statements have been prepared on an accrual basis and are based on historical costs unless otherwise stated in the notes. The amounts presented in the financial statements have been rounded to the nearest dollar.

(b) Revenue

Membership subscriptions are recognised as revenue on the issue of membership renewals. Non-renewal of memberships are reversed out of revenue. Interest revenue is recognised using the effective interest method, which for floating rate financial assets is the rate inherent in the instrument. All revenue is stated net of the amount of goods and services tax (GST).

(c) Receivables

Trade and other receivables expected to be collected within 12 months of the end of the reporting period are classified as current assets. All other receivables are classified as non-current assets. Trade and other receivables are recognised at the nominal transaction value without taking into account the time value of money.

(d) Payables

Trade and other payables are recognised at the nominal transaction value without taking into account the time value of money.

(e) Goods and Services Tax

(GST) Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST, except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of the amount of GST receivable or payable. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included with other receivables or payables in the Balance Sheet.

(f) Income Tax

No provision for income tax has been raised as the entity is exempt from income tax.

(g) Comparative Figures

Where required by Accounting Standards, comparative figures have been adjusted to conform with changes in presentation for the current financial year.
